

Introductory Statement - Loveth Freeman

I need the help of I-step up Foundation as a way to fulfill my dreams. As a young girl at the age of twelve I lost my Mother and Father through illness and I was brought up by my Uncle. My Uncle was illiterate but did his level best through his dedicated caring as a poor driver to pay for me. He paid for the duration of my Primary and Secondary education but was unable to facilitate my Tertiary education.

Whilst at home I experienced many difficulties and maltreatment from my Uncle's Wife, which forced me to leave home and come to Masanga. Fortunately, I met someone who helped pay for my studies to become a State Enrolled Community Health Nurse and furthered my dream.

I started volunteering at Masanga upon completion of my studies and my latest ambition is to become a State Registered Nurse. I am passionate about improving healthcare in Sierra Leone which is one of the poorest in the world. Becoming a State Registered Nurse is the best way to further this goal. I cannot achieve this dream without the help of I-step Up. Together we can alleviate suffering and improve healthcare outcomes across the country. My sincere gratitude to the Foundation and all donors for your support.
