

"A compressive analysis on what "I have been up to this semester "

02/03/2023

I am Isatu K. Turay

Starting this semester, I was extremely intimidated by college schedule's and was nervous that I would not be able to do as well in previous academic year.

I figured that the work would be much more difficult and that the tutors would not be as involved as they were in past year, which was true; but after the first month or so, I began to really apply myself to my schedules and now I feel like I have definitely adjusted well to the college atmosphere.

Even though the whole schedules is not always easy.

I am very proud of myself to getting through the previous year as well as I did and I am determined to improve this semester, and next semester.

As a sponsored student from ISTEPup Foundation in West Africa Sierra Leone, Tonkolili District College of Health Sciences, faculty of Nursing Masanga.

Among other things, successful I have ended both the introducing and Year one program of my studies

Current situation

These past couple of months have included some of the most stressful experiences of my life, but they have made me mature and grow up much quicker than I ever imagined I would have. Although this semester has been rough, I would not have wanted it. As of recently, I've been putting all my deadlines and important dates regarding my classes and units schedules so that I can organize my time better.

I'm on four (4) months posting at Makeni Government Hospital.

for special unit on different units duties; Dental, Mental, Ophthalmic, Intensive Care Unit (ICU), Chest Clinic, Authomatic, and Ear Nose and Throat (ENT)

Official days on duties at Makeni Government Hospital

Effectively, Mondays and Fridays are the operational days on the posting duties to the Makeni Government Hospital.

Equally on weekends Saturdays and Sundays I'm on duty at the Masanga Hospital as instructed by the college administration.

This current situation in operating both at Makeni government hospital and fulfilling the duties at the Masanga Hospital is a great challenge to the program of my studies.

Such challenges is questionable to the progress of achieving all, but however, as a determined, dedicated, teamwork, and hardworking individual I'm smoothly achieving all.

Note: the outmost challenging is transportation fare in travelling on the two way (Masanga to Makeni, and Makeni to Masanga) every week is a great challenge.

Humbly, I would like the organization to fully aware of my current constraints.

As a sponsored student from your already successful organisation I'm always grateful on the numerous support in achieving my studies. I am grateful and highly appreciated."

Regarding her results: The College exams office is still on the process to produce our transcript. I was told that tomorrow hopefully I will have my transcript (year one result)

Thank you
