My name Jane Furaha Mhema, and I would like to express my sincere appreciation to all donors for the invaluable support you have provided throughout my academic journey. Your generosity and belief in my potential have played a major role in enabling me to successfully complete my studies in the Pharmaceutical Technician course.

I am pleased to inform you that I have completed my training and obtained my academic results after undergoing both theoretical instruction and practical training required for pharmaceutical practice. The course demanded a strong understanding of pharmacology-related subjects, dispensing practices, and professional ethics. Although the training was challenging at times, it equipped me with the essential knowledge and skills needed to serve safely and responsibly within the healthcare system.

At this stage, the final requirement before I can begin professional practice is national registration and licensing, which is a compulsory legal process for all Pharmaceutical Technicians in my country. This qualification process ensures that graduates meet professional standards and are authorized to practice under the national regulatory authority. Unfortunately, the licensing and registration fees involved are beyond my current financial capacity.

Your continued support at this final stage will allow me to complete the qualification process and transition fully from a graduate into a licensed healthcare professional, ready to serve the community. I remain deeply grateful for the assistance that has brought me this far and for any support that will help me complete this last and essential step.

Thank you once again for your trust, encouragement, and investment in my future. I am committed to using this opportunity to contribute positively to the healthcare system with professionalism, integrity, and dedication.
