My update:

Over the past year, I have been engaged in my studies that has made me to successfully proceed into second year of my 3 year medical training. During this very time, I have also been dedicating my hours to studying, attending lectures, attending to assessments, and managing my time well, as all these have helped to be performing well in my program, as I remain committed to timely achieve my goal of becoming a well-trained Clinical Officer.

I continue appreciating your support to me, for it has enabled me attend my training without any disruptions, related to lack of tuition fees.

Allow me to let you know that I have not yet sat for end of the current 3rd semester examinations, up until in June or July this year.
