

STUDENT UPDATE REPORT

Name: Isatu Jalloh

Student ID: 646

Study Progress and Latest Study Details

I am pleased to provide my academic update for this study period. I am currently studying BSc Nursing Education. I successfully completed Level 100 and have been promoted to Level 200 due to my strong academic performance. I am also proud to state that I emerged as the best student in my class for this year.

My studies are conducted through both hybrid and traditional teaching methods. Some lectures are delivered physically in class, while others are conducted online. This approach has helped us continue learning effectively, although it has also come with some challenges.

One of the main difficulties I experienced during the academic year was related to the hybrid mode of learning. Internet access was sometimes a major constraint, which made it difficult to fully participate in online classes and access learning materials smoothly. In addition, because of lecturers' schedules and timing, some classes extended very late, sometimes until 11:00 p.m. Despite these challenges, I remained committed to my studies and continued to work hard to maintain excellent academic performance.

Over the past year, I have been fully engaged in my studies in the BSc Nursing Education programme. I attended lectures regularly, completed assignments, prepared for examinations, and remained focused on achieving good academic results. Through dedication, discipline, and hard work, I successfully completed Level 100, was promoted to Level 200, and emerged as the best student in my class for the year. This achievement has been a great encouragement to me and has strengthened my determination to continue striving for excellence. The past academic year has been both rewarding and challenging. Our learning system combines hybrid and traditional teaching methods, which has required a great deal of flexibility and commitment. While this method has made learning possible in different ways, it has also presented some difficulties.

This past year has helped me grow academically and personally. I have improved my study habits, strengthened my time management skills, and developed greater resilience in handling the demands of university education. These experiences have taught me the importance of persistence, adaptability, and self-discipline.

For the coming study period, I plan to continue working hard and maintaining a high academic standard in Level 200. I hope to build on the strong foundation I established in Level 100 and continue performing excellently in my courses. I also plan to improve my knowledge and practical understanding in nursing education, despite any challenges that may arise. My goal is to complete my degree successfully and become a competent professional who will make a meaningful contribution to nursing education and healthcare.

Regarding my progress report, I have already applied for it, and the college is expected to approve and issue it at the end of this month. Once it is ready, I will email my progress report accordingly. I remain grateful for the support I have received, and I am committed to making the best use of every opportunity provided to me.